Beta Theta Pi was founded August 8, 1839, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Its founders, John Reilly Knox and his seven associates, conceived the first of three fraternities to be born on this campus, known as the "Miami Triad". In its 108 years of existence, Beta has spread to campuses throughout the United States and Canada. The year 1907 saw the Gamma Phi chapter of Beta introduced to the OU campus. The founding of this chapter is due to the energy and foresight of the late Dean Felgar, aided by E. R. Adams.

Following its program of constructive pledgeship, Beta is stressing the more serious aspects of pledging. The scholarship aspect is being stressed heavier than ever this year.

Beta's first social function of the year, the annual Barn Dance, was a roaring success. On the other hand was the sedateness of the Senior Dinner. Wooglin continued to smile and frown on the antics of the pledges. The Betas continued their annual football rivalry with the KA's in the now famous and traditional Beer Bowl Classic.

Back at the guiding helm again this year was the warm heart of the Beta's revered housemother, Mrs. Gilliland. The homey atmosphere of the Beta house was largely due to her unceasing efforts.

One of the highest honors of the year went to Bob Keith who won the Pe-et award for last year's outstanding freshman. Also in this line, Ross Quincy was elected vice-president of Phi Eta Sigma, honorary freshman scholastic society. Beta was also well represented on the gridiron again this year by Merle Dinkins who led the Sooners to many victories despite several serious injuries.

The results of the Beta mating calls have not as yet been tabulated by the many auditors working on the project.
